October Free with Order Promo Cards:

This month will continue with a variety of free with order promo cards. After we run through our remaining xArtist cards, we will begin including singles from our test print set, 2025 TCP Collectosaurus 1902-03 World Series of Football Test Issue, shown below:

General Announcement: Going Forward

Well it's been a heck of a year so far. Throughout, we've been doing our best to navigate the ongoing economic turmoil, trying different strategies to keep both of our main projects (the website and publishing arm respectively) alive and moving forward. However, we've now reached the point where we need to hunker down and focus on preserving ourselves and ensuring the ongoing well-being of our team and organization financially.

To that end, we will be dropping the printing/publishing arm along with planned media streaming projects for the foreseeable future and focusing on the website project and eBay store. Since our Loot Crate product didn't attract much interest to speak of and our related Patreon efforts have so far fallen flat, we will be discontinuing those efforts until we get our website online and then trying again once we have the website available for public viewing.

Through it all we did generate enough funding to pick up the server we needed to develop the site offline and will be doing server development sessions on Mondays. As soon as we've got some footage to show of the site in action, we'll start posting development updates on Tuesdays.

As for our already developed products, we will be breaking down the Loot Crates we did put together and selling off our remaining on-hands. We will be selling anything we estimate to sell for $20 or more as singles, and anything else in bulk-lots after running archive-quality scans of them. We'll post some samples and keep updates on social media for overall scan counts and the like so that our progress can be seen as we go along. The World Series of Football cards will go out as purchase bonuses after we exhaust our remaining supply of this year's xArtist promo cards.

Finally, we will be continuing to maintain our social media platforms, with Collectible Of The Day posts continuing daily, The Collectosaurus Project general updates on Wednesdays, and Sales Update posts whenever we have new inventory up in the store or a new discount going online.

Thanks for all of your support and interest over the years, and we look forward to continuing to develop an excellent collectibles community for many more years to come!

October Posting Schedule Update

While we will be working to maintain our usual posting schedule going forward, October will be a little lighter and more sporadic than normal. This is because our team will be working on several projects, both Collectosaurus-related and of a non-business nature, throughout the month due to the changing seasons and will not have as much time to dedicate to our work as usual.

Additionally, we are exploring a potential merger with another small entertainment-focused business and will have more information on that in the coming months as we know more about the direction we will be going in. Either way, you can count on us continuing to operate and move forward with the eBay store and the development of our website project.

We expect to be back to a more consistent posting schedule sometime between late October and early November, depending on how long the previously mentioned projects take to wrap up.

Lots of Lots Incoming!

As part of our previously mentioned efforts, we've been hard at work breaking up our on-hands into smaller lots to make it easier for collectors and prospectors to get what they are looking for. One of the upcoming lots for October is a massive 1986 Topps Football lot, with a small sampling of which shown below...

Be sure to check in with our Social Media accounts regularly for the latest on the newest lots we're posting!
